Mission

The TGen Women's Philanthropy Council shapes the future of medicine by funding ground-breaking scientific discoveries and the acceleration of these discoveries into the clinic, to improve patient outcomes and save lives.

How We Make It Happen

Through this empowering and engaging program, council members expand their personal understanding of precision medicine and how it influences health outcomes for themselves and their loved ones. Members form dynamic relationships with a diverse group of like-minded women and TGen's scientific community—helping to bridge the gap between science, medicine and our community.

Your Impact

Your minimum annual investment of $2,000 supports innovative research at the cutting-edge of early detection, effective treatments for complex diseases like cancer, neurological disorders, fibrotic diseases and diabetes, infectious diseases, and rare childhood disorders. Each year, members vote to fund one of several promising research projects from the pool of membership contributions.

2023 - 2024 Program Schedule

Women's Philanthropy Council members are welcome to invite one new guest to each event throughout the season, as capacity permits. Please contact Stephanie Grinage for availability and additional information at (602) 343-8668.
